

Kaiser Foundation Housing Impact Fund

Description

In May 2018, Kaiser Permanente announced a commitment of $200 million to address housing affordability and homelessness. The company recognizes that housing is a key factor in a person's overall health and that providing stability helps provide a social return on investments made in these areas.

The company has pledged to invest these funds over the next several years through its Thriving Communities Fund. Returns on the fund could then be used to make new investments in the future. Investments are planned to be made on a case-by-case basis through a process that involves identifying community-based organizations that have already identified a need and a specific project.

Potential Applicability in Arlington

Provides another source of funding for development of affordable housing in Arlington, which may reduce the need for Arlington County assistance.
