INTRODUCTION: WHY EXAMINE ARLINGTON'S CULTURAL SPACES

Arlington County has a longstanding tradition of support for arts and culture. Arts and cultural activities reflect a wide range of our community's interests, perspectives, values and aspirations that contribute to our economy and foster wellbeing, whether it is expressed through the production of creative work or experienced by an audience.

Values

Art has value in itself.
Arts and culture are a strategic community resource.
Arts and culture underpin economic development and sustainability.

--Enriching Lives: Arlington Arts and Culture Strategy

In 2016, the Arlington Commission for the Arts (Arts Commission) launched a broad and collaborative community effort to create a strategic arts and culture plan. Enriching Lives: Arlington Arts and Culture Strategy, was adopted by the Arlington Commission for the Arts in November 2017.

Enriching Lives: Arlington Arts and Culture Strategy

Goal 1. Integrate arts and culture into all aspects of civic life and community life.

Goal 2. Invest in a vibrant, equitable, sustainable and evolving arts and culture ecosystem.

Goal 3. Use arts and culture to facilitate accessible and inclusive opportunities for lifelong learning, health, discovery and creativity.

Goal 4. Increase visibility, awareness and prominence of artists, artistic and cultural organizations and programs in Arlington.

Goal 5. Establish public spaces that offer opportunities for appreciating and interacting with arts and culture to enhance the daily experience.

To address one of the high priority strategies within Enriching Lives, a Cultural Facilities Task Force was established by the Arts Commission and charged with developing a framework to help Arlington plan for, invest in and manage existing and future cultural spaces and facilities to meet the ever-changing demands and interests of the Arlington community.

The Task Force focused on the following questions:

- What cultural spaces do we currently have in Arlington?
- What is the community's vision for cultural spaces in Arlington?
- What are the guiding principles that should be followed to achieve the vision?
- How should Arlington prioritize its needs for cultural spaces within the context of its other facility requirements?

The Task Force identified the need for a continual effort to assess, adjust and redefine Arlington's arts and cultural offerings, facilities and programming. Our community's unique and competitive position in the DC Metro area has always recognized the importance of the arts and cultural programming that is even more important today. As our community continues to evolve, Arlington must continue its support of the arts and cultural activities, spaces and places that help define our Community.

ARLINGTON'S EVOLVING ARTS AND CULTURE ECOSYSTEM

Arlington's network of County libraries, schools, recreation centers, theaters, parks, plazas and mobile assets, as well as privately held cultural spaces, restaurants, universities, houses of worship, and similar ancillary spaces comprise Arlington's cultural facilities infrastructure. And they are critically important to our cultural ecosystem.

The County has been opportunistic in creating a relatively low-cost cultural facility inventory in several ways:

New Life for Aging and Underused Facilities

In the 1970s, during a period of declining population and aging infrastructure, the County leveraged several underused assets for cultural uses. The County leased the Maury School, which was closed in the early 1970's to the Arlington Art Center in 1976 and after several renovations later that facility offers gallery exhibitions, classes and an artist residency program. The Lee Arts Center shares use with the Lee Community and Senior Center and offers a gallery for rotating exhibitions, programming for master workshops, and an upper level, fully equipped professional open studio for artists in ceramics and printmaking. And at 3700 South Four Mile Run Drive, a former Pepsi Bottling factory and location for WETA studios now houses a black-box theater, rehearsal rooms, classroom spaces, a sound studio, gallery and offices available for rent by theater groups, and office space for CAD Arts Administrators.

Joint-Use Facilities

The County also shares use of public facilities with Arlington Public Schools (APS) through a formal Joint-Use Agreement. The joint use of theaters, gymnasiums and other school facilities dates to the opening of the Thomas Jefferson Junior High and Community Center in the fall of 1972. A small number of other APS facilities are shared under Joint-Use Agreements that allow public access to spaces located within public school buildings when not in use by students.

Unique to our region, Arlington's Joint-Use Agreements have incubated and continue to provide local performing arts and cultural organizations with affordable performance and rehearsal spaces and classrooms, which can be nearly free for grant recipients of the Arlington Arts Grants Program.

Co-Locating in Redevelopment

In one case, the County incorporated the development of new theater space for Signature Theatre in a co-location with the Shirlington Library. Although they share the same building -- their operations are totally separate -- they function superbly as the community's focal point. The County's agreement with Signature requires payment of rent and certain facility operating costs, as well as public service through events at schools and community centers.

Special Event Permits

Arlington's cultural ecosystem includes many festivals and special events permitted by the County to occur on streets and in parks and plazas. Arlington's growing slate of festivals reflects a broad range of global arts and culture programming. Some examples include Festival Argentino, the Prio Bangla Multicultural Street Festival, the Rosslyn Jazz Fest, which celebrated its 28th year at Gateway Park, and the Columbia Pike Blues Festival, which celebrated its 23rd Anniversary in 2018.

Private Sector Partnerships

Other cultural spaces were established in Arlington with the redevelopment of its Metro corridors. These spaces are generally privately owned and operated.

Examples include the Spectrum Theater in Rosslyn and the Synetic Theater in Crystal City, both of which were created by converting 'abandoned' 1960s vintage movie theaters into performing art and auditorium spaces. The Artisphere was created in a space vacated by the Newseum as a result of development approvals with the building owner. The inclusion of a site plan condition for such spaces in the approval process for new development was similarly used to provide the Latitude Art Space in Virginia Square, the NRECA auditorium in Ballston, the Bennet Park Atrium in West Rosslyn, and the ARC 3409 arts studios in Virginia Square. Unfortunately, Artisphere closed in 2015 due to operating budget issues, and the Spectrum closed in 2017 due to imminent redevelopment of its host building.

Several County planning documents identify potential locations or uses for cultural spaces and facilities that are desired in those areas (e.g. Virginia Square and Courthouse Sector Plans and the Four Mile Run Valley Area Plan), and the ability to secure cultural spaces and facilities in the planning process should be retained and encouraged.

Unfortunately, due to the reality of changing economics and demographics, coupled with the scarcity of greenfield development sites in Arlington, the priorities for supporting and developing new cultural facilities have shifted, and the amount and type of both the existing and planned cultural spaces and facilities in Arlington have been drastically reduced.

While the County launched the Art Truck in 2018 and redoubled efforts to partner with other county agencies, nonprofit service providers and private enterprises to sustain public programming opportunities for cultural consumers, the reduced supply of facilities has impacted the ability of creative providers to maintain and sustain viable operations in Arlington.

INVENTORY OF CULTURAL SPACES IN ARLINGTON

Cultural spaces in Arlington cover the gamut from social to professional, informal to formal. They include spaces for production, expression and consumption, ranging from dance or visual art studios, to live performance venues, galleries, rehearsal spaces, restaurants with live entertainment, and plazas with festivals.

Because a cultural space in its broadest sense may be “anyplace where cultural activities occur,” this inventory defines a cultural space as “a place that is either an affixed structure or purposefully designed landscape that allows a defined cultural activity where art can happen through programming or spontaneous action”. For the purposes of this inventory, cultural space must meet the minimum criteria of facilities or landscapes that are available to the public and have physical and operational specifications. Public art, places of worship, offices and other ancillary spaces critical to Arlington’s cultural infrastructure are occasionally used by arts organizations for performances but have been excluded from this inventory due to data collection limitations.

The inventory is not intended to project demand or identify needs in Arlington’s cultural facility infrastructure. Appendix A includes an inventory of Arlington’s Cultural Spaces, and Appendix B describes the governance and policy of cultural spaces in Arlington.

Live Presentation Spaces

The 19 live presentation spaces in Arlington include eight black box theaters, nine proscenium theaters, one outdoor amphitheater, one mobile stage and one open stage. As shown in Appendix A, Table 1, 13 are co-located with public or private schools, of which only 3 are operated under a Joint-Use Agreement between the County and APS. Four spaces are operated by private entities: Signature Theatre and Synetic Theater, both nonprofit organizations, operate a total of three theaters and the Arlington Cinema and Draft House operates a single screen movie theater that doubles as a live performance venue. Arlington County owns and manages three venues: Theatre on the Run (a small black box theater), the outdoor Lubber Run Amphitheatre, and a mobile stage.

Non-theater spaces that are sporadically used for arts-related events are listed in Appendix A, Table 2. These spaces, which include County-owned community centers, libraries and privately-owned conference centers offer opportunities for smaller performances that do not require typical theater infrastructure. Notable among these spaces is the David M Brown Planetarium, operated by APS, that offers a domed projection ceiling. This category also includes private restaurants that offer live entertainment and are required to have dance hall or live entertainment permits. These permits must be obtained annually, so the list of venues can change quickly.

Exhibition/Gallery Presentation Spaces

Arlington's nine galleries that exhibit local, regional and national artists in various typical and atypical locations are listed in Appendix A, Table 3. The largest, Arlington Arts Center, contains 12 exhibition galleries. The Fred Schnider Art Gallery, located in a multi-family residential building in Ballston, is Arlington's newest gallery and opened in May 2018. Gallery Underground, located in the Crystal City underground retail space, exhibits juried works from the Arlington Artists Alliance members. Studio Pause, located at the Rinker Center in the Gates of Ballston, is a community exhibit space that opened in 2013. Gallery Clarendon is a new pop-up gallery created by the Arlington Arts Alliance. Marymount University operates the Cody Gallery in Ballston and the Barry Gallery on its main campus. The FOHTA Gallery features five exhibition spaces and is operated out of a home in a residential neighborhood. The Gallery at 3700 is in the county-owned Cultural Affairs building in Four Mile Run Valley.

Cinema Presentation Spaces

Arlington's three national chain movie theaters -- AMC Courthouse 8, AMC Shirlington 7 and Regal Ballston 12 Cinemas -- total 27 screens. The Arlington Cinema and Draft House, is a one-screen independent cinema that also offers live entertainment.

Creation/Production Spaces

Arlington's more than 20 creation/production spaces include artists' studios located in retail, office and flex industrial spaces, rooms in public schools and ground floors of residential buildings. Some of these spaces offer street-level access while others are internal to a larger building and are co-located with other uses (Appendix A, Table 4).

Living Spaces

Arlington currently has no dedicated living spaces for artists. However, Artspace, a national leader in the field of developing affordable space that meets the needs of artists has recently completed a study showing the demand for a residential and commercial project that could house up to 62 units of artist housing, 19 private studios and shared creative space.

Museum/Preservation/Collection Spaces

Arlington's three small museums -- the Arlington Historical Society Museum, a stand-alone building on Arlington Ridge Road; the Black Heritage Museum, in a temporary location along Columbia Pike; and, the Drug Enforcement Agency museum, located in the DEA office in Pentagon City -- exhibit curated items relevant to their mission. The Center for Local History, under the County Department of Libraries has 2 locations: a public location within Central Library that provides community archives for research purposes and a non-public archival location that occupies the upper level of the Dawson Terrace Community Center.

Education/Instruction/Training Spaces

Three Arlington universities offer education in the arts. Marymount University offers undergraduate programs in fine arts to prepare students for a career as a practicing professional artist or as a certified art teacher. In Virginia Square, George Mason University offers undergraduate and graduate programs in Arts Management. The Art Institute of Washington, a fixture in Rosslyn for more than 10 years, has announced its closing in 2018, which will remove a number of undergraduate programs in design, media arts, fashion and culinary arts.

Many of the classes and camps offered through Arlington's arts and cultural organizations (including Education Theatre Company, Encore Stage & Studio, Arlington Arts Center, Jane Franklin Dance, etc.) are held at 3700 South Four Mile Run, Houses of worship, Community centers and middle schools. In addition, Arlington Parks and Recreation offers classes in arts and ceramics. Children's summer camps with programming specifically targeted for arts are provided at schools and community centers. The Lee Arts Center, is a membership open studio operated by Arlington Cultural Affairs for professional artists in printmaking and ceramics. There are three private dance studios in Arlington – Adagio Ballet, Perfect Pointe and Saffron Dance.

KEY CONCERNS ABOUT CULTURAL SPACES IN ARLINGTON

Conversations and interviews with artists, arts organizations and audience members revealed that the number and quality of many existing cultural spaces in Arlington are lacking for several reasons:

- In Arlington it is difficult to cluster cultural places or activities that allow for an “official” destination or “night- out “experience.
- Many locations are spread throughout the County and do not have adequate signage or visibility due to their being co-located with other facilities.
- Due to limited land availability, high costs of construction and growing pressures on land use, it has become increasingly difficult invest in new, dedicated cultural facilities. There is the strong perception that Arlington has lost its commitment to invest in new cultural spaces and preserve existing spaces due to competing demands for limited funds and continued economic challenges.
- Because many of our existing performance spaces are connected to public schools, and school programming has priority, programming for other uses is limited. And since most schools are in residential areas with limited transit access, dining/entertainment opportunities and attached concession options, they are inadequate for professional organizations and artists that require daytime accessibility and defined availability of stage, equipment and back-of-house support.

COMMUNITY VISION FOR CULTURAL SPACES

A Community Vision is a description of the mental picture of what a community wants to achieve. Visions are powerful because they create energy, provide purpose and inspire action. Bringing forward a vision articulated by the community for cultural facilities and spaces in Arlington is a vital component of sound community planning.

On March 3, 2018, the Task Force conducted a robust community engagement session at Kenmore Middle School featuring facilitated conversations about the arts, culture and creativity in participants’ lives and in Arlington. At this session, a broad array of Arlington residents – arts-related people, commission members, community leaders, and others, many of whom may not define themselves as artists or affiliated with any of the Arlington-based arts organizations – shared their perspective on how connections to and values about arts, culture and creativity relate to their current and future life in Arlington. Recognizing that arts, culture and creativity don’t happen in a vacuum, the participants examined the intersection of arts/culture/creativity and community today and looking forward. Large and small group conversations centered around general and specific hopes and concerns for cultural space and activities in Arlington, including:

- Conversation #1: What do we do that is creative, and why is it important? How do we participate in the arts? How do we experience and perpetuate culture?
- Conversation #2: How do our connections to and our values about arts, culture and creativity relate to our current and future life in Arlington?
- Conversation #3: What have you heard? What has emerged? What sticks out? How does that inform our vision and values?

Arts, Culture and Creativity in Participants' Lives

Individuals ...

- Are creative and engage with creativity in all aspects of their everyday lives
- Do many different things to express their creativity

Arlington is a COMMUNITY where ...

- Artists, organizations and businesses can and should work together to cultivate prosperity
- Residents become whole beings, more connected, happier, less stressed, more empathetic when arts and cultural activities are part of their environment

Participants want Cultural SPACES/PLACES that ...

- Are adaptable, but do not compromise on quality or experience of the art
- Are vibrant, engaging destinations that enhance a neighborhood
- Are recognized and promoted
- Are inclusive, accessible and welcoming

Based in part on these conversations, the Task Force developed the following community vision statement for cultural spaces:

We envision a diverse and inclusive community with an imaginative array of spaces and places that enable a full range of arts and cultural activity for creation, presentation, enjoyment, and education.

As the dialogue continues with the community, the Task Force understands that the ideas discussed will develop further, evolve, and might lead down different pathways, but this framework will help guide and keep the discussion moving forward.

The Vision is intended to foster continued conversations, using a set of Guiding Principles to advance Arlington's planning and efforts to provide a full range of arts and cultural activities, places and facilities to meet the community's needs.

Our Hopes for Cultural Spaces in Arlington

- Participation in and appreciation of the arts is deeply felt by Arlingtonians
- Our vibrant and engaged community distinguishes Arlington in the region
- Arts and cultural facilities provide the places where people unite to form a caring, learning, participating, sustainable community in which artistic expression and cultural traditions are a vital part of life and the reason to live here.
- Let's bring in lots of technology, beautifully designed outdoor spaces, funk and pizzazz
- Spaces that flourish throughout Arlington
- Arts is not a luxury but an important part of human experience

--Results from March 3, 2018 Community Engagement Session

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The community's vision for cultural spaces is aspirational and encompasses the best characteristics and values of Arlington.

Planning, and decisions about specific developments, can take years to come to fruition and during that time many changes can take place. Realization of the Vision will require an iterative process that continually addresses a complex combination of our community planning processes and the prioritization of limited fiscal resources within a rapidly changing cultural environment.

For this reason, we developed Guiding Principles to help evaluate ideas, suggest a process to follow and establish a direction for planning and providing cultural spaces and facilities in Arlington. These principles are drawn from the perspectives of those participating in the community engagement event.

I. AFFIRM COMMUNITY VALUE OF CULTURAL SPACE

Cultural spaces provide value to a community, whether they are spaces for performing, presentation, education, making or viewing. They imbue a distinctive character and creative environment to neighborhoods, drawing both residents and visitors. They offer a platform for ongoing activities and enliven public spaces. They attract participants and audiences, with spillover effects for restaurants and other businesses. Consider opportunities to:

1. Incorporate a variety of cultural spaces in all walks of life.

- Encourage County, non-profit and private sector partners to recognize the role that cultural space plays in supporting vibrant and inclusive neighborhoods.
- Affirm that through recognizing and embracing diverse cultures, heritage, and identities, as well as offering opportunities for expression and enrichment, outcomes may become more equitable.
- Customize, leverage and align County policies, land use tools, and approaches for inclusive development with County initiatives for economic sustainability and resilience.
- Prioritize the ability to incorporate a wide range of cultural spaces in new and redevelopment projects. Encourage the planning process to reward the inclusion of cultural spaces within commercial corridors and BID boundaries.

2. Maintain current cultural spaces and establish priorities for future cultural spaces in Arlington.

- Develop specific criteria and considerations for prioritizing cultural facility needs and goals.
- Maximize flexibility to support multiple cultural uses.
- Place appropriate importance on back-of-the-house functions and infrastructure that is needed for successful operations, such as areas for storage, manufacturing, and administration.
- Encourage and incentivize the private sector to take risks with new ideas and with strong public support; minimize barriers and provide places to experiment.
- Identify sources and allocate funding for public cultural infrastructure.

II. LEVERAGE THE LOCATION OF CULTURAL SPACES

Arlington’s geography is characterized by high density transit corridors and many distinct residential and mixed-use neighborhoods. Cultural spaces can animate public and private facilities, rejuvenate structures and streetscapes, improve local business viability, and bring diverse people together to celebrate, inspire, and be inspired. Consider opportunities to:

1. Strengthen and enhance neighborhoods, commercial areas, and community gathering locations to reflect cultural identity by locating cultural spaces throughout Arlington.

- Find, make or create places and spaces where arts and culture can be programmed.
- Leverage existing community facilities by improving the cultural amenities within them.
- Take advantage of neighborhood intersections that have unique features and offer opportunities for conversions to gathering spots.

2. Locate cultural spaces near public transit and parking options.

- Prioritize locations of cultural spaces with multiple, convenient transit choices.
- For cultural spaces without transit options, ensure adequate parking options are provided.

3. Cluster varied cultural spaces to maximize cultural experience and amenities.

- Cluster facilities and spaces where multiple activities can have proximity to shared parking, concessions and other amenities and infrastructure.
- Encourage partnerships and the co-location of cultural spaces where possible to create and add vibrancy within surrounding areas and to strengthen adjacent businesses.

III. PROVIDE EQUITABLE ACCESS TO CULTURAL SPACES

Generally, everyone wants welcoming, inviting spaces and places where we are enticed to join in and participate. Facilities should be easy to locate, comfortable to enter, and burst with character and uniqueness. Consider opportunities to:

1. Plan cultural spaces with attention paid to the diverse needs of each type of activity and the audience for it. Recognize that participation in arts and cultural events is not monolithic.

- Design and locate cultural spaces that reduce access barriers and invite increased participation.
- Partner and support Arlington’s social service and affordable housing organizations to plan and create community spaces that can accommodate cultural and arts activities.
- Utilize data on demographic and economic changes to determine future cultural space needs and adapt and implement plans accordingly.
- Enhance civic identities, community diversity and cultural needs in the built environment.

2. Engage with cultural community producers to ensure that their cultural activities address the motivations for participation by members of our community.

- Understand why people attend specific cultural events and understand the experiences they hope to have.
- Strive for affordability at all levels of the community.

IV. LINK CULTURAL SPACES AND ECONOMIC PROSPERITY

Fulfilling the community’s vision will require cultural spaces that are able to react to Arlington’s dynamic real estate market, meet the requirements of community-based and professional artists, and serve the broad needs of residential, commercial, and industrial neighborhoods. A thriving cultural ecosystem requires shared stewardship from cultural creators, consumers, government, funders, institutional partners, businesses, and nonprofits. Consider opportunities to:

1. Ensure that the provision of cultural spaces keeps pace with Arlington’s growth.
 - Facilitate private sector development of cultural spaces by creating zoning incentives and streamlining permitting for cultural projects.
 - Provide bonus Floor Area Ratio (FAR) credits for cultural spaces in new development.
 - Incentivize cultural uses in older and underutilized buildings including creative pop-up uses within and on the exterior of vacant buildings and transitional spaces.
 - Streamline temporary occupancy permitting for cultural uses.
 - Adopt financial tools to subsidize fees.
 - Create innovative funding models for the development of cultural infrastructure.

2. Build capacity so cultural organizations understand the benefits and complexities of managing, operating, owning, or sharing cultural spaces.
 - Introduce real estate professionals to the needs, opportunities, and successful models of cultural spaces.
 - Facilitate sharing and co-locating of cultural spaces in the public and private sector.
 - Collaborate with neighboring jurisdictions to share cultural spaces.
 - Develop operating models that leverage synergies between organizations and artists that have complementary skills and needs.

PRIORITIES AND NEXT STEPS

This report provides a foundation for evaluating future work that should be performed prior to investment in new or repurposed cultural spaces. It is a framework for considering what the community envisions for cultural spaces and the principles that it believes will help guide and achieve that vision.

It is not a plan; however, it provides meaningful information about Arlington’s existing cultural spaces along with the important community dialogues and engagements that will inform additional planning efforts to address Arlington’s cultural space needs in both the short and long-term.

As the arts and culture sector continues its evolution, and as the importance of community connections becomes even more critical to our quality of life, the guiding principles provide a critical tool to objectively evaluate the future opportunities and challenges associated with providing cultural spaces.

The Task Force recommends the following:

1. Keep the Process Going

- Develop and implement a marketing and community inclusion strategy to engage the community about the importance of cultural activities and spaces to Arlington’s quality of life.
- Promote existing spaces, including the mobile stage and Art Truck, by targeting “neighborhood gathering areas” that have strong potential to support viable and successful cultural activities.
- Continue to learn about community desires for cultural spaces and ideas about new and innovative ways that cultural spaces can be incorporated into the diverse social fabric of Arlington.
- Resist confirmation bias -- which is the tendency to search for or interpret information in a way that confirms one’s preconceptions -- by looking forward and understanding the trends and evolution of the dynamic arts and culture sector.
- Advance the community vision and incorporate these findings in a broad and in-depth Cultural Facilities Plan.

2. Cultivate and Grow Stakeholder Involvement

- Partner with businesses, organizations, and private foundations to generate their interest in and support of the arts and cultural activities and spaces with the desired outcome of enhancing Arlington’s competitiveness and quality of life.
- Seek partnership opportunities with arts organizations interested in operating and managing purpose-built facilities. Develop a process to assist interested arts organizations prior to embarking on facility development; develop a “farm team” of arts organizations to lead this effort.

3. Conduct a True Needs and Demand Study

Conduct a detailed demand analysis to fully understand Arlington’s specific needs for cultural spaces, especially considering the rapidly changing environment for arts and cultural participation and how it fits within the region’s abundance of cultural offerings.

4. Elevate Cultural Activities and Spaces in the County’s Planning Discussions

- Incorporate cultural spaces principles in appropriate planning projects.

- Inventory and track sector plans regarding cultural and art facilities components; review and suggest alternatives as appropriate, including strategies for implementation
- Remove barriers to enable cultural spaces and uses to occur in existing buildings, along pedestrian zones, and in other areas where cultural uses would add vibrancy to corridors and neighborhoods.
- Brand and promote Arlington’s cultural spaces.
- Acknowledge that Arlington’s cultural activities and spaces will continue to change, evolve and adapt along with the County.

5. Responsibly Plan for What Is Needed

Create and adopt a comprehensive plan element for cultural spaces that aligns with the County’s planning principles based on the further advancement of the Guiding Principles set forth in this report.

Appendix B.

Arlington County's Role: Governance and Policy Regarding Cultural Spaces

The inventory demonstrates that the County and the private sector share an almost equal investment in the cultural spaces that comprise our cultural ecosystem. While the County plays a large role in supporting the cultural ecosystem, cultural facilities are major investments and the full extent of the cultural sector extends far beyond County investment to private sector, foundations, private donors and consumers. Cultural spaces are important to our community and this value is demonstrated in county governance and policy.

The Comprehensive Plan is one of the most important decision-making and priority-setting tools that is used by the County Board, Planning Commission and County Departments. The document guides coordinated development and sets high standards of public services and facilities in the County. Achieving Arlington's vision is at the core of this plan.

In February 2017, the updated Comprehensive Plan included several goals and objectives, the priority for cultural infrastructure is held equal to other public facilities: "Development of governmental facilities which will promote efficiency of operation and optimum public safety and service, including the areas of health, welfare, culture and recreation;" (p.5)

There are several separate elements of the Comprehensive Plan with two guiding policy for cultural infrastructure: the Public Spaces Master Plan (PSMP) and the General Land Use Plan (GLUP).

The PSMP sets "forth six major objectives to guide policy-making, public investments and County management of public spaces during the next two decades. The objectives are to balance acquisition and development of public spaces; preserve and enhance the environment; improve access and usability; enhance arts, culture and history; develop and enhance partnerships; and manage assets effectively." (p.13)

Arlington's policy for public art is well defined in our Public Spaces Master Plan (PSMP). With dedicated funding from the County's capital budget, the Public Art Master Plan (PAMP) is a separate element to the PSMP. PAMP details the priorities, areas and themes that should be considered as public art projects are developed, as well as a list for potential projects.

The GLUP "establishes the overall character, extent and location of various land uses and serves as a guide to communicate the policy of the County Board to citizens, the business community, developers and others involved in the development of Arlington County. In addition, the General Land Use Plan serves as a guide to the County Board in its decisions concerning future development." In the Courthouse Sector Plan Addendum, "Courthouse Square is envisioned as the civic and cultural heart of Arlington with aspirations to include: opportunities for entertainment and activities; creation of a community gathering place in Courthouse Square; additional open spaces at Metro Plaza and Veitch Terrace; a premier address for new development; and sustainability, flexibility, and innovation.
